TAYLOR CASE

NEAR AN END

The Taylor murder case has been on trial all day in the district court. It was about noon when the evidence was all in and the afternoon has been taken up with the speeches of the attorneys. It will probably go to the jury late this afternoon, and a verdict, one way or the other, will doubtless be rendered tonight or tomorrow morning.

Tulsa as a Factory Center.

Tulsa, Ok., July 27.—According to State Factory Inspector G. E. Warren, who has just completed his annual inspection of the industries of this city, Tulsa leads the other cities in the state in high wages to its factory employees and length of employment. Mr. Warren's report showed that 1,101 persons were employed in factories here as compared with 880 one year ago, with three large factories in course of construction which employ at least 400 people combined. But one case of prohibited child employment was discovered. The first state factory inspection here was made in 1908, when thirty-one plants with 600 employees were found. The total number of factories and workshops has grown to fifty-seven this year. Tulsa hopes to become the leading manufacturing city in the state with cheap fuel, plenty of water and splendid railroad facilities.

W. D. Walker of Weatherford, Texas, is visiting her brother, L. J. Crowder.

SUGGS WOULD BUILD FROM KANSAS TO TEXAS

Oklahoma City, Ok., July 27.—Col. Sidney Suggs, state highway commissioner, has laid out a tentative road district through Oklahoma from Red River to Kansas, skirting either side of the Santa Fe Railroad, and will have the commissioners of the counties here for a conference July 31. The department proposes to have selected in the general district, a route for the across-the State highway, and then the counties to survey the road and place it in good condition as a dirt highway, later to be finished with macadam. After the main highway is located it will be easy for adjoining counties to locate their lateral roads to connect at the most convenient point. The Oklahoma project, as heretofore announced, is to be a connecting link between Texas and Kansas and Nebraska in the Meridian road, which if carried out, will be a highway from Canada to the Gulf. Col. Suggs contemplates calling a conference of the road projectors of those states to meet in Oklahoma City soon, when details of the general proposition will be worked out.

"What we need locally," said Col. Suggs, "is to arrange our own details and finances. The state proposes to help as much as it can and in addition the federal government will help. We can rely upon getting as much money from the federal government as we are willing to spend of our own. That is to say every time we spend a total of $10,000,000 in road improvement the government would be willing, I think, to dump in the same amount. It is our purpose to have congress divide the deep water appropriations with the states as an aid to highways, and that will be the issue in all our congressional races from this state. We are now engaged in perfecting a grass root organization by bringing together good road associations in every township in the state. When we have this done the good road movement will be in position to ask for something and get it."

FRENCHMAN WINS 1-000

MILE AEROPLANE RACE

Brookland, Eng., July 25.—Beaumont (Lieut. DeConneau) won the $50,000 prize offered by the London Daily Mail for the circuit of Great Britain aviation race of 1,010 miles. The Frenchman reached the finish here at 2:07 this afternoon, making a splendid "Volplane" from a height of a thousand feet. Vedrine reached the goal at 3:17. Both Frenchmen received enthusiastic receptions. Beaumont, on alighting was seized by admirers and carried on their shoulders to his tent.

GOOD ROADS IN OKLAHOMA

The question of good roads is one which interests, more or less, every citizen of Oklahoma, and the question of permanent roads is one yet to be solved.

From a scientific standpoint, this subject has been studied in Oklahoma only a few years. Mr. L. C. Szider, Assistant Director of the Oklahoma Geological Survey at Norman, has just gone to press with a report on Road Materials and Road Conditions in Oklahoma.

In addition to discussing the formation and maintenance of the different kinds of roads, the report discusses technically the best materials with regard to the particular locality.

One section of the book is devoted to conditions of counties, discussing them individually with regard to the present condition of their roads and the possibilities of their improvement.

This report will be available to the public in a few weeks; also any other information applied for.

BALE TO THE ACRE

IN GRADY COUNTY

Chickasha, Okla., July 27.—A bale to the acre will be the yield of cotton in Grady county this season and the quality will be as good as any ever raised in the state. J. H. Clark, living near the city, has thirty-one acres that may produce over a bale to the acre, so well has it grown since the rain. There was never a time in the history of cotton growing in Grady county when such good prospects were present.

WHITE SWAN MILL

DESTROYED BY FIRE

Clinton, Mo., July 26.—Fire that broke out at 1 o'clock this morning completely destroyed the White Swan mill near here. The mill was owned by the Blue Milling company of Kansas City. The loss is $200,000. The origin of the fire is unknown.

The White Swan mill was one of the oldest in this part of Missouri. It was built over twenty-five years ago and employed sixty men.

STATE RAISES TAX VALUES

PONTOTOC COUNTY HORSES VALUED AT $70—HOGS $6—LAND VALUES NOT SETTLED.

Oklahoma City, Ok., July 26.—Land values were increased by the State Board of Equalization today. It is estimated, nearly one hundred millions over the aggregate figure returned by the counties, the increase averaging about thirty-two per cent. Coal, Ottawa, Beaver, Texas, Cimarron and Ellis counties were left as returned, while in other instances the advances ranged from ten to sixty per cent. No county was lowered. Kay county is highest with a valuation of $37.50 per acre, and Garfield is next with $36.50. Alfalfa was placed at $35, Canadian $25, Jackson $25, Grant $22, Tillman and Washita $28 per acre. Oklahoma county is not included.

Under resolution of the board the state auditor is directed to certify to the counties the aggregate value of their property of a given class, and it is up to the county boards of equalization to make adjustments on the figures given. The Attorney General has expressed himself freely about what the law means, but today when in discussing the method the board employed, stated that it would be left for the counties to determine. Appeals will lie from the county boards to the District Court, and from the District court to the Supreme court.

Counties the attorney general held, have no right to settle taxes on a less figure than that fixed by the state board. It has been done, however, in some counties, and he said today that as soon as he could get the information together he would bring suits to collect the remainder with the legal penalty of eighteen per cent attached. The board fixed the following values for horses.

THE TENT MEETING

8TH AND OAK AVENUE

There was an attentive audience at the tent on Thursday night to hear the subject: "The Seven Churches." It was shown from the Bible and History, that the seven churches of Rev. chapters 1, 2 and 3 are seven distinct periods of experience through which the true church God has passed and is passing since the beginning of the ministry of Christ to the end of time. It was also shown that we are in the last period of the church's experience known as the Laodicean Church. It was seen that Christ did not rebuke the present church for her doctrine so much as for her lukewarmness.

We saw by a study of Rev. 14:12; 22:14, that this last or remnant church will be found keeping all of the commandments of God and will have the Faith of Jesus.

The subject for tonight will be: "The Importance of Sound Doctrine or Shall We Believe the Word of God or the Tradition of the Church?" All are invited to come.

Congress May Adjourn Aug. 10.

Washington, July 27.—Senators Smoot, Utah and Crane of Massachusetts, leaders who talked with the president today, predicted an adjournment of congress on August 10, with all bills proposing to revise the wool schedule defeated. On the heels these predictions, however, came rumors from the capitol that an attempt will be made by insurgent senators to tack an amendment revising the wool schedule on the farmers' free list bill. Wool is voted on in the senate tomorrow. The farmers' free list comes up August 1.

WHITE POPULATION INCREASING.

As the country had a right to expect, the white population in the south is growing faster than the negro element. The census returns from nine of the cotton states show this plainly. In the cities of those states the whites increased 46.6 per cent during the decade, as compared with 27.6 in the previous 10 years, while the negroes gained 30.5 per cent, as against 23.2 per cent in the 10 years immediately preceding. Each race, as will be noticed, grew faster in the past 10 years than it did in the preceding 10, but the gain was much greater among the whites than among the blacks. In the rural districts in those states the white gain in population in the decade just ended was 17.3 per cent and the negro only 8.3 per cent, while in the preceding 10 years the gain in the two races was 18 and 17.5 per cent, respectively.—Shawnee News.

Zapata county, Tex., is a freak politically. At the last two state elections every vote cast in the county was for the republican ticket, and in the prohibition election not a pro-vote was found in the county. Another strange thing about it was the fact that although only 140 poll tax payments had been made, about 300 votes were cast.

Good Roads in Greer County.

More substantial and general good has been done upon the wagon roads in greer county this year than has possibly been done in all the past years of our existence. Good roads have been the crying need of this county for years past but no definite plan of action was matured and worked out before, hence a kind of hit and miss policy prevailed. Our present efficient board of county commissioners studied the proposition out, laid definite plans and the result is visible upon every hand.

And it is all accomplished without any heavy expense or loud boasting.
Just a careful, business like, well matured energy expended along intelligent lines and backed up by able and competent assistants has worked out the whole transformation, and we don't mean to say that all the work has been done. In fact, it has just been started; but if the present gain is maintained by our commissioners it will only be a short time until the roads of Greer county will have no resemblance to the same stretches of a few years ago.

Aside from keeping a careful survey of our finances the present board has looked after the road and bridge interests in such a way that our people will be long in forgetting. May they continue this splendid work and thereby make their administration an everlasting blessing to all the people.

MORRIS FLYNN SCRAP IS

MATCHED FOR LABOR DAY

It has been definitely settled that Carl Morris, Oklahoma's hope is to tangle up with Jim Flynn on Labor day. The match will be staged either in Philadelphia or San Francisco.
Oklahoma will not get the battle, but from present reports hundreds of Oklahomans will witness the match.
Carl has so many admirers in his home state they would journey farther north upon this troublesome planet than did Dr. Cook, if the fight were to be staged there.

Carl has a large job on his hands if the battle is on the square, although he is fighting a comparatively small man. Flynn is a light heavyweight, but an untamed wildcat when he gets his lamps on an opponent in a ring. The presence of claret arouses him as much as does a red rag a bovine.

Carl says he is going to annihilate the Pueblo pug and advises his friends to gather about them all the good American money they can get their breadwinners on and place it on the undefeated champion of Oklahoma. Flynn, however, says he will cause Morris to regret that he ever saw a pair of boxing gloves and that after the battle he (meaning Morris) will be back Casey Jonesing. If the battle is on the level, and most of the sports throughout the country believe that it will be, the fight will be one of the best heavyweight mills staged in recent years.

The Girl of My Dreams

A Novelization of the Play by

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I. Harry Swifton is spinning along in his auto, his thought dwelling in happy anticipation of a visit from his fiancée, Lucy Medders.
Quakeress, who nursed him when he was injured in an auto accident out in the country. His mind taken off of his roundings, by these pleasant thoughts, crashes into another auto containing German count and a beautiful woman.
The woman's hat is ruined. Absentmindedly Harry thrusts the remnants of it in his pocket and makes his escape.

CHAPTER II. Carolyn, Harry's sister, arrives to play hostess to a group of friends. She is in a daze, and with a hat intended as a gift to Harry is in a daze to see how the Count and the lady of the damaged hat.

CHAPTER III. Who, it develops, is the Countess. She is in a daze, and in a daze to see how the Count and the lady of the damaged hat. She is in a daze to see how the Count and the lady of the damaged hat. She is in a daze to see how the Count and the lady of the damaged hat.

CHAPTER IV. Lucy professes curiosity regarding the room in which Mrs. Blazes is hidden and Harry is forced to do some sneaky lying.

CHAPTER V. The milliner arrives to trace the duplicate hat. She proves to be Daphne Daffington whom Harry has shown considerable attention to in the past and the situation becomes more complicated. She agrees to make another hat providing Harry will take her to dinner. Lucy and Carolyn call Harry and Daphne is hustled into the room occupied by the Count. The Count and Daphne seems had carried on a flirtation before and greeted each other warmly.

CHAPTER VI. The Count asks Daphne why she had left him standing on a corner waiting for her one evening, she explains that she met a dear friend and had accompanied him to dinner. The Count had given her a ring on a former occasion and demanded its return. Daphne explains that she had given it to General Blazes, at that the Count was in a state of mind bordering on insanity as he had given Mrs. Blazes a duplicate of the ring that her husband had. Daphne and the Count exchange bitter words and Daphne refuses to stay in the same room with him, so she enters the room that Mrs.
Blazes is concealed in.

CHAPTER VII. Harry and Lucy enter the room, accompanied by Mr. Medders, who was busy looking around the house and the Count. Harry could stop him had opened the door of the library where the Count was concealed. Explanations followed and the Count played the role of Harry's German tutor. Harry is forced to tell what he has learned and the Count assists him, the deception proves a success.

The Count smiled grimly at Harry and shrugged his shoulders. Harry looked at him in mute appeal, as though asking him to come to the front now with his plan of squaring things. But the Count was a man of experience. For all his flippancy and safety, he was man of experience enough to know that when you are going to defend anything or any position which is being attacked you are better off if you wait until the attacking party has exhausted its ammunition and arguments.

So he bided his time, while Carolyn gradually relieved her mind by means of tears and recriminations, and while Lucy, who was completely mystified, but who felt that something was tremendously wrong, slowly arrived at a state of calm on the haven of her father's shoulder.

Shrewd old Amos Medders, being by birth and training a patient man, said nothing beyond a few soothing words to Lucy. He had concluded to end their visit and take her home, yet he was a fair man and he would give Harry a chance to come from under the cloud, if he could.

"Well, Carolyn," Harry said at last,
"if you have finished all you have to say, we will get at the real truth of the matter. Count von Fitz, I think, can tell us something that will at least interest us."

The Count straightened his shoulders and took a deep breath. He twisted his mustache thoughtfully, and then flicked an imaginary piece of dust from his lapel.

"If you will all sit down," he observed, "I can talk better. Dare I say, no occasion for weepings, nor for attacking Mr. Swifton. If anybody shall be attacked, it is me, for vat has happened, and vat may yet happen, is my fault."

Carolyn resumed her seat, Lucy, with a wondering expression, took a chair, and Mr. Medders, nodding gravely, also sat down. Harry lounged on a settee, and carelessly chewed an unlit cigar.

"It iss like diss," the Count said, as though addressing a jury. "In life dare iss many things vich seem impossible of explanation, but vich ven we know vat dey are, do not mean so much."

Mr. Medders bowed assent and Harry looked at the Count with considerable admiration for his self-possession and his control of the situation.

"You haff seen somding," the Count continued, "vich excites natural suspicion und distrust. Ve haff all seen dis. Und, as usual, ven suspicion is aroused, id iss like a swarm of bees—it lichts varever id pleases. Und also somebody gets stung."

He chuckled to himself, but his chuckle did not raise an echo.

"Id would be easy for me," he said,
"to allow you to continue mit der impressions you haff received. But I cannot allow it. Efen at der expense of a wrong impression of myself, I must gift you my explanation—vich you can believe or not believe, as you like. Mr. Swifton iss a man dot you know—a man you vill always know throughout his life. Me—I am a stranger. I haff been teaching Mr.
Swifton some Cherman—but I resign now as his tutor."

"No, no! I won't have that!" Harry bluffed.

"Unless you accept my resignation, I cannot say vat I wish to say," the Count decided.

Accepting Harry's silence as a confirmation of the alleged resignation, he went, checking off his points as he made them, upon his fingers.

"First, vat do we haff? Ve haff Cheneral Blazes coming here in a great rage, saying his wife is here.
He iss assured dot she iss not, und he goes away."

"Verily, I told him she had not been here. I saw not her nor any other woman—not even that one who
—"

Lucy's father patted her hand and ceased speaking. The Count bowed to her and went on:

"Later, Cheneral Blazes returns. He iss sure his wife iss here. He has heard from der milliner store dot she iss supposed to haff called up from here on der telumphones. Der rest you all know—or think you know.
He demands his wife. He iss again convinced she iss not here, und as he starts out, he hears a sneeze. Such a sneeze is von dot iss echoed in his heart. He believes it iss his own wife's sneeze. Der door iss opened, und instead of his wife, und comes der milliner! Amazenment!"

With a sense of the dramatic unities, the Count paused. The others nodded mutely in confirmation of his summing up of the evidence.

"Vell, den," he resumed. "Vat iss der natural deductions you draw.
Darefore, und consequently, our first conclusion iss dot things look plack for Mr. Swifton. Iss it not so?"

They agreed, silently.

"But vy should it be so?" the Count asked, pleasantly. "Iss Mr. Swifton der only man in der house? Iss he der only man in der world dot flirts?
May I ask vy I, a poor, unknown, unnoticed Cherman—though id iss not so in my own country, I assure you!
—iss dare any reason vy I should be neglected in your suspicions?"

Lucy and Carolyn looked at each other triumphantly. Here was a ray of hope for Harry, after all.

"But," the Count went on, "I must beg you not to suspect me as you do Mr. Swifton. I know you vill not, for peebles do not gift such violent suspicion to stranchers as dey do to their own kind. I vill tell you how dis vlon-am happens to be in dot room. I sent her dere!"

"You did!" Carolyn exclaimed.

"Why, I thought Harry—" "Off course," Miss Swifton, the Count interrupted her. "Ve would always gift der benefit off der doubt to any von but our own folks. Is it not so? Now, vy did I sent her dere?
She comes here to see about a hat she has sent to a wrong address. I recognize in her a lady mit whom I haff flirted. You see, I do not hesitate to acknowledge dot I haff flirted. Vy should I? I am in diss country for dot purpose. Ladies flirt mit me—a gallant chentleman vill at least be polite enough to respond. Beauty vas effer a weakness mit me. So! I meet dis lady here—dis milliner. I engage her in conversations. Ve hear some von coming. She cannot get out. I tell her to hide in dot room a moment.
She hides. But dare is no chance for her to get out. Und at last, ven it seems dot dare vill be a chance, der explosion comes—and you know der rest."

The Count removed his eyeglass and swung it nonchalantly by its cord.
He awaited the verdict. He did not look at Harry at all. Smilingly, he studied the wall.

"Dost thee realize that thee has endangered the name of this woman?" Medders asked, in quiet tones.
"Not so," the Count defended himself. "I vas protecting it. Der, Chen-eral, und all der rest off you, by making her come out—you put her in danger."

"Well," Harry said, after seeming to think the matter over very seriously. "I confess that I am surprised by what you have told us. But I think we should make allowances for you.
You are unfamiliar with our view of things and of conduct. What seems right to you may seem utterly wrong to us. I am not defending you, but I am not condemning you. I only ask you, next time you chat with a milliner, not to hide her around here."

This concluding remark of his, accompanied with a sunny smile, broke the tension, but Carolyn almost spoiled everything by saying:

There's Not a Store In Town

That Would, In Six Months From Now
Be Half as Important as it is Now, if it Should Stop Advertising During That Time!

Isn't that perfectly true—perfectly logical?
Can you imagine any store of which it would not be true?

And, if true, does it not follow that the reverse of the proposition is true, too—that the store that doubles its accustomed advertising for the next six months will also double its accustomed store growth for that period?

And does not this, also, apply to any store you can think of in this town?

ADA LOSES TO ATOKA 9 TO 5

LACK OF TEAM WORK RESPON- SIBLE FOR DEFEAT OF LO- CALLS IN SPIRITED GAME.

Lack of team work and two or three innings of poor fielding—that tells the story of Ada's defeat in yesterday's ball game with the fast Atoka team. Good playing was much in evidence throughout the greater part of the game, yet in the pinches the locals' lack of drilling told on them sharply, and gave Atoka the big end of a 9 to 5 score.

Bill Coffman, veteran of years gone by, opened in the box for Ada and did some first-class pitching, holding the visitors to one run until the fourth inning, when lack of support gave Atoka two scores. Again in the fifth the visitors started for big game and scored three more before the smoke cleared away.

Pat Jones was placed on the mound at this stage of the execution and pitched splendid ball, pulling out without another hit in the fifth inning. In the sixth, errors and lack of support gave Atoka three more, although Jones was master of his position. Atoka never scored again.

Ada made two in the second, one in the seventh and two in the eighth.
The features of the game were the fielding of Presnal Sugg in the left field and the base running of Frank McCain.

SURPRISE STORE

When in its youthful bloom,
And when it first came to Ada, It was in a very small room.

It was then we labored and toiled And struggled night and day;
The people came to see us,
And never turned away.

But now it is standing And looking o'er the land.

The cause that made it larger now, Than when in its youth, Is, when the people came in,
They always heard the truth.

GOSPEL TENT ON

NORTH SCHOOL GROUND

The singing was spirited and entered heartily into at the tent on the north school ground where the pastor of the First church is conducting a meeting. The subject for the evening was "From Savior to Judge." Matt. 27:22; 11 Cor. 5:10.

One text represents the present opportunity, the other the judgment when opportunity is gone. We must do something with Jesus, neutrality is impossible. Jesus seeks through love, mercy, warning, putting us ill at ease through a guilty conscience, and the warning of judgment to try and stir humanity to surrender to the better life. When man closes himself to these it is a terrible tragedy.

Judgment is certain and exacting. The white spot light of His throne will search every corner of the soul. Mountains and rocks can not furnish a hiding place. The sheaves of yesterday will be borne in on the arms of memory. Memory keeps a perfect library of life's events. To face a life lived in refusal of God's Son and love how terrible it will be.

God pendulum swings both ways. Love trampled must be revenged. Note the figure of this wrath. Rev. 6:16-17. "the wrath of the lamb" not the wrath of the lion, but the lamb. The lion's nature is wrathful, but the lamb is gentle. So to force the fact of wrath to a stronger point the lamb becomes wrathful. How terrible a thing it is to fall into the hands of the living God! says the apostle.

There were four confessed faith in Christ last evening, and baptismal services were had at the church at 3 p. m. today.

The subject for this evening will be "From Rags to Robes."

Enjoy Using Herpicide on Account of Its Distinctiveness.

The ladies who have used Newbro's Herpicide speak of it in the highest terms, for its quick effect in cleansing the scalp of dandruff and also for its excellence as a general hair-dressing. It makes the scalp feel fresh and it allays that itching which dandruff will cause. Newbro's Herpicide, effectively cures dandruff, as it destroys the germ that causes it. The same germ causes hair to fall out, and later baldness; is killing it. Herpicide stops falling hair and prevents baldness. It is also an ideal hair dressing, for it lends an aristocratic charm to the hair that is quite distinctive. Sold by leading druggists. PRESIDENT TAFT SIGNS RECIPROCITY BILL Washington, July 26.—President Taft signed the Canadian reciprocity bill at 3:10 p. m. Secretary Knox, Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel Secretary to the President Hilles and T. P. Littleton of New York, several newspaper men and a battery of photographers witnessed the signing. As he picked up the pen the president turned to Secretary Knox.

"Come over here, Brother Knox," he said. "You are responsible for this." The secretary of state stood beside the president as he placed his name on the parchment.

"It's done," said Mr. Knox. "It's done," said the president as the two clasped hands across the desk.

Instructions for the administration of so much of the law as is effective until the whole agreement is ratified by the Canadian parliament were telegraphed to customs collectors along the Canadian border today. The new regulation provides for proper identification of imports to prove that they are of Canadian origin and the state department has been asked to instruct consular officers in Canada to add their certificates to the declarations of the importers.

Until the Canadian parliament ratifies the agreement, only section 2, which covers wood pulp, paper and paper board, will be affected. The regulations under the new law provide for free entry to all such imports from private lands or from crown lands, provided no export tax has been levied. British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec impose export duties on wood. Now Brunswick will do so after Oct. 1.

Congratulations upon the passage of the measure kept the White House telegraph wires busy all day. Messages came to the president from friends all over the world.

GRAY HAIR MAKES YOU LOOK OLD

A Simple Remedy Brings Back the Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

How often one hears the expression, "She is gray and beginning to look old." It is true that gray hair usually denotes age and is always associated with age. You never hear one referred to as having gray hair and looking young.

The hair is generally the index of age. If your hair is gray, you can't blame your friends for referring to you as looking old. You can't retain a youthful appearance if you allow your hair to grow gray. Many persons of middle age jeopardize their future simply by allowing the gray hair to become manifest. If your hair has become faded or gray, try Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation which a chemist by the name of Wyeth devised a few years ago. It is simple, inexpensive and practical, and will banish the gray hairs in a few days. It is also guaranteed to remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

It is a pleasant dressing for the hair, and after using it a few days itching and dryness of the scalp entirely disappear. This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is sold by all druggists. Gwin & Mays Drug Co.

CAR OF PEACHES SHIPPED FROM ADA

This morning a representative of the News had the pleasure of seeing what was probably the first car of peaches ever shipped out of the county, started on its way to St. Louis. The fruit was the property of W. B. Johnson. It was loaded in a special express car and amounted to about 300 bushels.

When it is remembered that this is a very poor fruit year, this is all the more remarkable and shows to some extent, at least, the possibilities of this section in the fruit line. The News hopes to see the day soon dawn when the shipping of a car of peaches will be an every day occurrence.

WILEY WILL HOLD JOB BUT WILL BE REPRIMANDED

Washington, July 26.—It became known here late today that Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, in a report to President Taft, had recommended that Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the pure food expert, be admonished, but not dismissed. Secretary Wilson, it is understood, declares leniency must be shown Dr. Wiley because of his valued services to the government in the past and his usefulness for the future.

Will Relieve Embarrassment.

Under the recommendation, the president will be able to retain Dr. Wiley in his position, as it had been believed all the time he would do, without seeming to ignore the advice of his attorney general. Thus, an embarrassing situation will be avoided.

Secretary Wilson declines to discuss the nature of his report before the president sees fit to make it public. What little he has had to say has indicated that he had not advised "turning down" flatly the recommendation of his department personnel committee and Attorney General Wickersham that the pure food champion be allowed to resign.

From what was learned today, it appears the secretary upholds the charge of the committee that Dr. Wiley committed a grave error and violated the law, but suggested in view of the doctor's splendid work in the past and value to the department he should be admonished and retained in the service.

The personnel committee, comprised of Assistant Secretary Willet M. Hayes, Solicitor G. P. McCabe and Chief Clerk C. C. Clark, charged Dr. Wiley with permitting an agreement to be made with Dr. H. F. Rusby of Columbia University, New York, a noted pharmacognosist, for compensation in excess of the maximum allowed by law.

Report of Insane Asylum.

On July 1, 1911, there were 468 inmates in the insane asylum at Fort Supply, according to a report submitted to Governor Cruce. This includes 372 males and 174 females. The report covers the period between January 1 and July 1. On the first of January there were 474 patients, including 301 males and 173 females. During the time covered by the report fifty-seven patients were admitted, eighteen died and twenty-seven were discharged. The balance in the ward fund on July 1 was $547.87; contingent fund, $1,208.28, and maintenance fund, $13,931.71. Collections during the time covered in the report amounted to $7,175.22, leaving a balance of $2,446.46. General conditions at the asylum are shown to be good.

Birthday Party.

Yesterday evening M. B. Donaghey celebrated his fifty-third birthday by entertaining a number of friends at supper. Those present were Duke Stone, C. H. Rives, J. W. Davis, W. A. Leonard of Allen, M. P. Eaton, M. P. Donaghey and family, Mrs. R. L. Eaton and daughter and Bart Donaghey, wife and son and H. P. Reich.

Mr. Donaghey is always genial and good natured, a man one whose generosity and good qualities make deservedly popular and on this occasion he was in his best mood and when the guests took their departure it was with a sincere wish of many happy returns. The supper was prepared by Aunt Lee, the faithful old colored cook who has been with the family for so long.

S.S.S. FOR SUMMER SKIN DISEASES

During the summer most persons are annoyed with pimples, boils, rashes or eruptions, while others suffer more severely with Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, or some kindred skin disease. All skin affections come from humors and acids in the circulation. The blood, as it circulates through the system, deposits these humors and acids in the sensitive membranous flesh which lies just beneath the outer skin. This acid matter causes inflammation and a discharge which breaks through the delicate cuticle, and skin diseases are the result. To cure any skin trouble the blood must be freed from all acids and humors, and for this purpose nothing equals S.S.S. This enriches the blood, and in this way permanently cures skin diseases. S. S. S. cures because it purifies the blood and thus does away with the cause. Book on skin diseases and any medical advice you may desire sent free. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores.
